

April, 2014

We recently built a new house, and as part of the fixturing, we decided to include an extensive home audio and video system with smart controls. Not having had this in previous homes, we did extensive research in order to understand the range of products available, and the type of set-up that would suit our needs. We quickly found how complicated choosing the right system could be.

We met with the top Home Audio and Home Theatre companies in the Okanagan to review our needs and assess their offerings. It was an easy decision to go with Beyond Audio. Mike and his team clearly understood the complex nature of engineering custom systems, and they were the only team that could answer all of our questions and provide sound solutions.

The installation went like clockwork: on schedule, as ordered, and with impeccable attention to detail. Kieran, Dieter, and the rest of the team were courteous and professional from start to finish. What started out to be one of the most complex aspects of our building plans ended up being one of the most satisfying elements of our new house.

Well Done!
